

PRESIDENT AGAIN VETOES FARM RELIEF MEASURE

LEGISLATORS WILL ADJOURN THURSDAY A. M.

Payment of Their Own Expenses May Be Only Action

Springfield, Ill., May 23—(AP)—The second special session of the 55th Illinois General Assembly will adjourn sine die tomorrow morning. The sum total of work will exclude the two major subjects for which the session was called—home rule for Chicago and refund of the $6,300,000 collected under the illegal gas tax law. The gas tax refund bill died a lingering death today. The traction bills met a similar end yesterday. So far, no bill has received the approval of both houses of the legislature.

Will Pay Themselves. Tomorrow morning the two houses meet, early. The only thing definitely settled is that the bill providing for payment of the member and of employees of the assembly will be passed. Even this bill must be passed without the emergency clause, and the money will not be available until next July.

Other bills which may be passed tomorrow include that providing for aviation control; and the bill excluding from taxation land held in trust by a university. Their passage is doubtful.

The gas tax refund bill was killed in the Senate after veiled charges had been directed at the state Department of Finance, which administered the tax law.

Senator Roy C. Wood of Chicago produced a balance sheet from the treasurer's office showing that gas tax monies were paid into the Treasury approximately 30 days after collection by the Department of Finance. In this manner, he said, more than $6,000,000 passed through the Department of Finance.

He wanted to know where the money was held and who received the interest during the thirty day period. He proposed that the Senate call the heads of the Department of Finance and ask them.

Postpone Any Action. Senator Adolph Marks of Chicago, pointing out that to keep the money 30 days was an entirely legal procedure, moved that further consideration of the gas tax refund bill be postponed.

It was then disclosed that the appropriation bill in the House would have to have the emergency clause stricken out else the House could not muster sufficient votes to pass it. This required concurrence of the Senate, since the bill has been passed by the Senate. For concurrence 26 votes are required. A roll call found 22 members willing to stay until tomorrow.

Persuasive methods were adopted, and 26 were finally persuaded to stay long enough tomorrow to concur in the House amendment, and both branches adjourned until tomorrow.

NO MISHAPS IN JUNE SLOGAN AT CEMENT FACTORY

Local Plant Has Part in Nation-Wide No-Accident Drive

Starting June 1, a perfect safety record will be sought for the month by the Dixon plant of the Sandusky Cement Company. It was announced today by Superintendent W. E. Wuerth. The local plant will cooperate with 160 other cement mills located in the United States, Canada and Cuba to put across one of the most concerted campaigns against accidents ever inaugurated by an entire industry. The drive is known as the annual June No-Accident campaign and is sponsored by the Portland Cement Association.

Papers pledging the support of the Dixon plant in the national campaign were signed yesterday. Superintendent Wuerth explained. During the past nine years the Sandusky Cement Company has been quite active in movements to protect its workmen. Plans are now being made which will completely eclipse all previous efforts and put the local mill in the front rank from a viewpoint of safety. A safety committee composed of several of the employees has been appointed to carry the drive to every department and every cement employee. This committee will be in active charge of the efforts to completely banish accidents during the month of June.

"National recognition will be given plants showing a clean record for the month," Superintendent Wuerth explained in announcing the campaign, "and there is every reason to believe we can set a new record. Not only are we striving for our employees to work safely during June but during the other eleven months as well."

Starting June 1, the safety flag, presented by the Associations, will fly from the flag staff of the mill and it will stay up just as long as the plant continues to operate without a lost time accident. Every employee will be on the alert to see that the flag is kept flying.

Lone Eagle Not to Give Up His Flying

New York, May 23—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today said that while he was prepared to give all the time necessary to the establishment of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., he did not expect that work to prevent him from other flying. Asked if he was planning another flight to Europe, he replied that he was still interested in trans-Atlantic flying and believed it would become an established thing but added that he had no definite plan for such a flight at the present time.

He explained that the work of the technical committee on which he is chairman is to select routes, pilots and airplanes. None of this has been done, he said.

UNUSUAL FEATURE AT LADIES' NIGHT DIXON KIWANIS

Jules Brazil is One of the Finest Entertainers Ever Heard

"The finest entertainment ever given in Dixon," was the positive verdict given by those who attended the ladies' night dinner and program of the Dixon Kiwanis Club last night at the Christian church, with Jules Brazil, internationally known entertainer of Toronto, Canada, as the headline.

President I. B. Potter opened the program with those assembled singing "America", followed by invocation by T. C. Koller, then the 100 present enjoyed a fine dinner served by the ladies of the church. After a few jolly songs, Lou Jacobson quickly disposed of some club business, for all eyes were fixed with anticipation on that little Canadian who sat at the head table radiating with a personality that was both unique and fascinating. They wanted to hear him, they expected laughter, and no sooner had President Potter introduced Jules, for that is how all like to know him, than the keen-witted diminutive went to the piano and instantly laughter commenced.

Delightful Intimacy. Jules, small, well dressed, has entertained at the International conventions of Kiwanis ever since Kiwanis was, and is now on his way to Seattle. In a minute he showed his audience in no uncertain terms that he is an entertainer de luxe. As a pianist, it was obvious that he is a finished musician, but he performs at the instrument with such utter disregard for the keyboard that one really marvels how it is he plays so beautifully and without the slightest error in harmony. For two hours he kept that audience roaring, and there was not one person there whom he could not look straight at and call by name and know the most intimate things about them, with the consequence that all had the most delightful "at home" feeling, and their laughter reigned without restraint.

One cannot help feeling at home with Jules. Everything he does is funny, a word, an action, a remark, and his repertoire, which is all original is something that could not be witnessed in any theater in the country. Particularly clever was his Dixonizing, as he said, the art of story telling, in which he created on the spot a musical story bringing in the name of almost everyone present. Ollie Rogers arrived late and was flabbergasted when Jules greeted him as he sat down, suggesting to Ollie that he must have been late in getting off the golf course. Instantly it suggested an imitation of a quartette, always late for rehearsal, and their mixed-up performance.

Artistically Serious. The little girl Margaret Trowbridge tripped across the room to a front seat. Instantly Jules got the serious thought of today's youthfulness and the tendency to forget the old things, illustrating by a beautiful musical monologue about the "Old Piano". To describe the Canadian is simply impossible for his talents are so varied that it would take columns to describe the multitudinous humorist he did last night. Suffice to say that those who were absent missed the biggest night of absent-splitting funniness ever served up to a Dixon gathering. Brazil is the outstanding club entertainer of the United States and Canada and is hard to procure for an evening, and those who missed last night have much to regret.

Jules is generous. He took the time to give all the students of both high schools two entertainments of merit that had the pupils rolling with laughter, and the simply refused to let him go.

Congratulations. Yes, a thousand congratulations to the committee of Kiwanians who brought Jules Brazil all the way from Toronto, Canada, to Dixon. He was given the outstanding program of joy and laughter that will never be forgotten. "Bring him back if possible," the Kiwanians say, "we'll welcome him always."

Girl Shot Would-be Negro Robber Today

East Chicago, Ind., May 23—(AP)—There was more than $45 worth of excitement in today's robbery of an East Chicago loan company by a Negro, who was captured in a South Chicago street mill yard after a pistol battle with officers.

The Negro, who gave his name as Leroy Covington, obtained $45 at the loan company. Featured in the thriller was Margaret Reppa, 23, sister of an official of the loan company who forced the Negro to flee when she fired at him with a pistol. The robber was wounded and the estimation of Margaret's marksmanship depends upon whether she or a policeman injured Covington.

BODIES OF TWO MEN FOUND IN RUINS OF STERLING'S FIRE; THIRD NOW SOUGHT

Victims Apparently Groping Way to Exit at Death

Bodies of two of three aged men who lost their lives in the $400,000 fire which destroyed the drawing mill of the Northwestern Wire Co. at Sterling Friday, had been recovered at noon today—the first, identified as that of Frank Grate, 67, being found Tuesday afternoon; and the second, thought to be that of George Stutzler, 62, being recovered from the debris at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Search for the body of the third victim, John Burns, 70, was being continued today.

Bodies of both men were found along the north wall of the destroyed building, about 25 feet from the west wall, and near an exit, toward which it is believed the unfortunates were groping their way when they were overcome by gas and smoke.

They were in terrible condition from burning and being crushed under debris, and identification was made difficult. Grate's body was definitely identified by means of a small piece of shirt under one of his arms, which the fire had not reached, and which was said by his daughter-in-law, to be similar to a shirt which she had given him for Christmas. Later his watch and belt buckle were found at the spot where his body had been recovered, completing all possible identification.

Coroner Fry impaneled a jury Tuesday afternoon, but will not open the inquest into the tragic deaths of the three men until all bodies have been recovered, he announced today.

MINE DISASTERS IN OTHER PLACES ADD TO THE TOLL

Indications That 236 Men Have Lost Lives Since Saturday

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.) Indications were today that 236 workers had lost their lives in five mine accidents since Saturday as follows:

Mather, Pa.—Coal mine explosion; 164 known dead; 23 missing.
Yukon, W. Va.—Coal mine explosion; 13 known dead; 4 missing.
Harlan, Ky.—Coal mine explosion; Eight dead; 16 missing.
Kimberly, Nev.—Copper mine cave-in; four dead.
Elko, Nev.—Cave-in; four dead.

164 BODIES RECOVERED. Mather, Pa., May 23—(AP)—The bodies of one hundred and sixty-four victims of the Mather mine disaster had been recovered from the explosion-swept workings up to today, as rescue men continued their search for 33 missing men. One hundred and fifty-two of the bodies were identified, and seven held at the main shaft to be brought to the surface later in the day.

Rescue work was slowed up to a great extent when rescue men were affected by odors in the underground workings. Many of the bodies recovered during the past few hours were decomposed. Rescue leaders reported that there were some bodies buried under a giant fall of roof. They indicated that a week or more might elapse before these bodies could be dug out.

Many Funerals Today. Many funerals were held in the Mather region today. Most of the bodies are being shipped to adjoining towns, and no mass burial was planned. Among those buried today at Grays Landing were the four Bootz brothers—Andy, Sam, Paul and John. They went to work in the ill-fated mine Saturday, just an hour before the explosion occurred.

Authorities today ordered that one body already buried, be exhumed because of mistaken identification. The body was identified as that of Joe Hall Negro, and was buried at Waynesburg. Today rescuers brought another body out, and positive identification showed it was Hall. It was believed that the body in Waynesburg was that of Washington Apple. Mrs. Apple had remained at the mine shaft almost constantly since Saturday night, awaiting word of her husband.

BLAST IN KENTUCKY. Harlan, Ky., May 23—(AP)—Eight miners had been killed and fourteen were missing in an explosion that wrecked a mine of the Black Mountain Coal Corporation near here last night.

ITALIA OFF FOR FLIGHT TO POLE EARLY THIS A. M.

General Nobile Expected Trip Would Occupy About 40 Hours

(Copyright by the Associated Press. 1928.) Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, May 23—(AP)—The dirigible Italia started northward at 4:40 a. m. today across the Polar ice cap with the North Pole, some 750 miles away, as its objective. General Umberto Nobile, commander of the expedition, hoped to land at the Pole itself to make explorations and to plant a cross given him by Pope Pius.

This cross was blessed and kissed by Father Safranchoi, the priest of the expedition just before the start was made. The crew of the Italia witnessed the ceremony. The present expedition is expected to last from 30 to 40 hours. On May 11 General Nobile made his first attempt to penetrate into Polar regions in the Italia but returned to Kings Bay after seven hours because of bad weather conditions.

On May 15 he started a flight to Lenin land from Kings Bay and returned on May 18 after a flight of 68 hours without seeing any new land. Scientists Along.

General Nobile on his present trip is accompanied by a number of scientists and plans to make studies of temperatures, prevalent winds, climatic conditions, magnetic compass variations and other phenomena. If the weather at the pole permits General Nobile plans to land several members of his party there to conduct various investigations.

The cross given by the Pope will be either planted at the Pole or dropped there if it is found that a landing is impracticable. The cross is about six feet high with a metal base and there is a repository in it in which a message written by the Pope in Latin on parchment was placed.

Plans for Morrissey Funeral Not Complete

Relatives of Edward J. Morrissey of Harmon, who met untimely death in the crash of an airplane near Richmond, Va., early yesterday, were unable to give out particulars regarding the arrival of his body from the east today. Morrissey, at Harmon, accompanied by an escort.

It was expected that the body would possibly leave Richmond this evening for Harmon but nothing definite had been announced up until noon today and the funeral arrangements will be announced later. Relatives who went to Aurora yesterday to be with the bereaved widow and children returned home last evening.

MENDOTA BOY IS KILLED BY ROCK HURLED BY YOUTH

Missile Was Thrown to Frighten Lads But Hit One in Head

Mendota, Ill.—His skull fractured by a heavy rock hurled at him allegedly by Albert Frederick, 16, who with a group of companions sought possession of a raft on which he was riding with a number of other youths in a railroad pond near here, Robert Kaufman, 14, died at Harris hospital, Mendota, at 10:10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Kaufman and several companions had taken the raft Saturday afternoon to the center of the pond where they had intended to spend the afternoon fishing. Shortly after the youths had maneuvered the craft to the center of the pond, Frederick, with a group of youths, arrived on the scene and requested that Kaufman and the boys, who accompanied him, bring the raft ashore, it is claimed.

Struck in Head. When the boys refused to comply with the request to land with the raft, Frederick is alleged to have thrown a heavy rock in the direction of the raft, planning to "scare" the youths into coming ashore. Instead of the rock landing in the water near the raft, as it was said Frederick intended, the missile struck Kaufman on the head rendering him semi-conscious.

The youths immediately rowed to shore and proceeded to walk Kaufman to his home, a mile and one-half distant. They had proceeded only a short distance along the road to Kaufman's home when the injured boy collapsed and was placed in a passing car, owned by Gale Clintie, of Mendota, and taken to the family home. At his home, the youth's condition gradually grew worse and he was removed to Harris hospital where an operation was performed Monday afternoon.

It was said that in the operation, Dr. Edgar Cook, who attended the injured boy, removed a piece of the fractured skull and a large blood clot which had formed near the youth's brain. The youth failed to respond after the operation and his condition grew grave, ending Tuesday morning in death.

Surviving Kaufman are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kaufman, three sisters and one brother.

Eno Leases Schuler's New Garage Building

Floyd G. Eno has leased the new Schuler building, now under construction on West First street, and is to be modeled into a modern fire proof garage and sales structure. Mr. Eno expects to be able to open the building with his Buick sales and service shortly after the first of July or just as early as the fine new building is completed.

The building is ideally situated for the purpose for which it is to be used. The building is being constructed along fire proof lines and will be modern in every respect, equipped with an entirely new system of lighting.

The display room, finely furnished will occupy the front part of the building, facing on First street with the offices and rest rooms adjoining in the rear. The rear of the first floor will house a service and main tenance department which will be fully equipped with new machinery and will be under the direct supervision of Oscar Johnson.

The sub-basement will care for the storage departments, lubrication and car laundry service. Arrangements have also been made in the construction of the building for ample outside parking space which is another feature.

Indiana Republican Convention Starts

BULLETIN. Indianapolis, Ind., May 23—(AP)—The Republican state convention in opening session today adjourned suddenly shortly after noon without giving United States Senators James E. Watson and Arthur R. Robinson and Governor Ed. Jackson an opportunity to speak.

The most uncertain biennial state convention the Republican party has held in many years in Indiana was to get under way in Cadie Tabernacle here today.

Silver-tongued orators were in charge, attempting to soothe with words of praise those who were too ready to row and to express hope for early settlement of the problems confronting the delegates.

The big fight—selection of a candidate for Governor and others to complete the state ticket—will not start until tomorrow morning. While they rested for it, United States Senators James E. Watson and Arthur R. Robinson, Governor Ed. Jackson, George M. Barnard of New-castle, state chairman Elza O. Rogers and Congressman Fred S. Purnell of Attica, delivered the oratory from the convention platform. Today's program called only for speech-making.

Meanwhile, ten men just as determined to land the gubernatorial nomination as they were prior to the primary made their last bids for support. The situation appeared unchanged from what it has been since the voters failed May 8 to give any man a majority of their votes.

New Thermometer to be Sent for Dixon

Clarence J. Root of Springfield, meteorologist of the United States Weather Bureau in charge of the Illinois section, was in Dixon Tuesday to inspect the government thermometer and precipitation gauge at the Shuck & Bates store on Lincoln Way, both of which instruments he found to be in good condition.

However he has decided that the Dixon observation station shall be equipped with a new style thermometer, and because of the prominence of the station on the Lincoln Highway a new shelter house for the instrument will also be sent.

Mr. Root stated that the local observers are doing excellent work, being one of fifteen out of 84 under the supervision of the Springfield office which telegraph daily reports to the weather bureau for publication in the daily corn and wheat region bulletins.

Little Boy Injured

(Telegraph Special Service.) Nelson, Ill., May 23—A little son of Mrs. Kate Stanatovich was painfully cut about the head when the Ford sedan in which his mother and two other small children were en route to the North-Western road house late Tuesday afternoon, got off of Mrs. Stanatovich's control and struck a cement abutment, throwing the child out of the car. He was taken to a surgeon immediately and today, aside from some soreness appears to be little the worse for his experience.

RETURNS BILL TO CONGRESS WITH MESSAGE

Expresses Hope Bill, Unobjectionable, Can be Passed

BULLETIN. Washington, May 23—(AP)—The vetoed McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was laid aside by the senate today until tomorrow at the request of Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon. Senator Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, expressed the hope that a vote to override the veto would be taken tomorrow.

Washington, May 23—(AP)—President Coolidge today vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. Thus the second time in as many years that Mr. Coolidge has disapproved a farm plan embodying the equalization fee machinery for surplus crop control.

Whether there will be any farm relief enacted this session now is up to congress. The House and Senate have a choice of re-passing the bill without the equalization fee, in the hope of winning presidential favor, or of attempting enactment of the measure as it stands by overriding Mr. Coolidge's veto.

There is much doubt that the latter course would prove successful.

Reason for Veto. The President vetoed the bill on the grounds of constitutionality and because the "so-called equalization fee and other features of the old measure are still prejudicial in my opinion to sound public policy and to agriculture."

The veto draws the issue between the President and the farm group in Congress more tightly than it ever has before.

Lowden Unshaken in Faith in Bill!

Oregon, Ill., May 23—(AP)—Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, candidate for the republican presidential nomination, when informed that President Coolidge had vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, told The Associated Press today that he still stands for the entire bill.

"I have declared my position on the bill and that is that I am for it until something is advanced that is better for the farmer," Mr. Lowden observed.

The former Illinois executive was at his farm near here. A few days ago Lowden in a Chicago interview said he had told opponents of the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen measure that stripping the proposed legislation of that feature would be like a protective tariff without schedules.

He declared at that time that he would not want the republican nomination if the party was not committed to the farm relief.

has been and, unless some further action is taken at the Capitol, will place the agriculture question before the coming presidential conventions as an outstanding controversy.

Frank O. Lowden is one of the most outspoken champions. Vice-President Dawes favors it and Senator Curtis of Kansas and Senator Watson of Indiana have voted for it. Secretary Hoover has been regarded as standing with the President on farm relief.

Chance for Passage. The Senate would have to muster a two-thirds vote to pass the bill over Mr. Coolidge's veto. This session the Senate passed it by a vote of 53 to 23, or slightly more than the necessary two-thirds. In the House the measure was approved 204 to 121, or slightly less than two-thirds.

Its consideration in both houses was enlivened by a discussion of its possible an explosion wrecked the level leading to the lateral on which the men were working. Cars were wrecked, ventilating fans stopped and tracks leading back to the shaft opening were torn up.

The operations were revealed at his trial and conviction for attempted betting frauds on a firm of Edinburgh bookmakers.

Early this morning the fans were repaired and efforts to reach the entombed miners were renewed. A crew of about 20 men from nearby Ford mines were engaged in removing debris that clogged the entrance.

Approximately 75 men were in the mine at the time of the explosion which, according to officials, was caused by coal dust. Those trapped were at work about three-fourths of a mile from the entrance.

The mine is operated by the Peabody interests in Chicago.

IN WEST VIRGINIA

Bluefield, W. Va., May 23—(AP)—Thirteen miners were known to have been killed and four were missing today following a blast in the No. 1 mine of the Yukon-Peachbottom Coal Company at Yukon, McDowell county, last night.

The bodies of the thirteen workers had been brought to the surface by rescue workers. The exact number of men in the mine at the time of the explosion was unknown, but company officers said they did not think there were more than seven.

Only loaders and machine cutters were in the workings, it was said. The bodies removed were those of loaders.

The mine was quickly cleared of gases, according to reports received here and rescue efforts pushed to the limit. A state mine department safety car and workers was sent from Matoeska, and the Consolidation Coal Company also responded with a rescue squad.

The cause of the explosion was undetermined, but its source was thought to have been gas.

Yukon is in an isolated section and news of the blast did not reach here until hours after it occurred.

CAVE-IN IN UTAH

Elko, Nev., May 23—(AP)—Four miners were killed in the Old Alpha shaft of the Consolidated Copper mines at Kimberley, near here, yesterday by a cave-in of material which had been blocking the shaft for years. The men were engaged in clearing the shaft at the time of the accident, and were working about 650 feet underground.

Allowed Ten Days

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Township clerks are allowed ten days in which to qualify for their office after election, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlson held in opinion.

His ruling was in answer to a request of Alvin C. Bohm, State's Attorney of Madison county. Bohm cited a case where the clerk elect was notified by mail on April 17, to qualify for that office, but he failed to do so, making his appearance at the regular clerks office three days later. The incumbent refused to qualify the clerk-elect. Bohm asked the attorney general whether the town board could fill the vacancy by a special election if such was the case, or if they had authority to make an appointment.

Carlstrom ruled that the clerk-elect was within his right; that no vacancy existed; and that upon taking the oath title, the office became indefeasible.

BROUGHT BACK TO HEALTH BY NEW GLY-CAS

For 10 Years Endured Awful Side and Back Pains; Whole System Disordered.

Dixon men and women, by the score, are now turning to Gly-Cas, the amazing new medical discovery at the Campbell White Cross drug store, to end distressing health troubles endured for years and in many cases where medicine after medicine and treatment after treatment had failed to give relief.

Mrs. M. J. Griffin, respected and well-known Dixon lady living at 420 E. River St., while talking with a Gly-Cas Man a few days ago, made the following remarkable statement:

"I am more than willing to recommend your Gly-Cas for it has been of great value to me in my suffering from liver and kidney troubles. It has been 10 years since I began to suffer from pain in both my sides and the small of my back. The poisoned condition of my liver and kidneys seemed to have my entire system out of order. Headaches and dizziness would attack me and most of the time I felt tired and nervous. My appetite had become poor and I was losing weight in my suffering. I tell you, those constant pains in my sides and back were wearing me down."

"It just looked like nothing could give me relief—that is, until I began taking your Gly-Cas recently. It is the truth that after the first few days of my taking Gly-Cas, my headache and dizziness left me. I then soon began to lose my former tired and nervous feeling. As my system began to throw off the poisons in a natural way through the Gly-Cas, my appetite returned and I began to see still further improvement in my condition. I kept on with Gly-Cas and now those former pains have entirely left my sides and back and because of all this relief I feel I cannot praise your Gly-Cas enough. It simply did wonders for me in restoring my system to health and a normal condition again."

The Gly-Cas Man is at the Campbell White Cross drug store, Dixon, and is daily meeting the public and explaining this amazing new medical discovery. Sold by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.—Adv.

Again the O. E. S. Minstrel Revue played a large audience, this time at the Dixon Theatre, last evening, between the first and second shows. The Minstrels as given last week at the Masonic Temple under the direction of Mrs. Charles Bishop, (who deserves a great deal of credit for the clever production), were again presented to an enthusiastic audience. The songs were tuneful and the jokes were funny, the acting clever and the entire production snappy and up-to-date.

MARSHES OF WYNDHAM
I shall go back to the bayberry meadows.
Russet and bronze in the slanting sun.
I shall feel the sting of the good salt breezes.
And savor the sea-scents, one by one.

I shall hear the homing cry of the plover.
The leasured beat of the osprey's wings.
The dry little chatter of wild plum bushes.
And the sibilant grass where the ripple swings.

For though I am pledged to a desk in an office,
I have only to close my bodily eyes,
And then—I am down in the bayberry meadows.
Watching a cloud of sea-birds rise.

They spiral away in the veiling twilight.
While the tide creeps whispering in from sea.
And I—I am back in the bayberry meadows.
Where by day and by night I have longed to be.

Ruth Aughtilltree.

MENU for the FAMILY

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, codded eggs, toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Stuffed onions, lettuce sandwiches, jellyed prune and nut pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked ham and pineapple, steamed rice, asparagus cream salad, fig pudding, milk, coffee.

Either fresh or canned pineapple can be used with the dinner ham. The meat should be cut from two to three inches thick and baked with the fruit covering it. If fresh pineapple is used it must be allowed to stand in sugar for an hour before baking.

Asparagus Cream Salad
Two bunches asparagus, 1 cup water, 1 slice onion, 1 whole clove, 3 slices carrot, sprig parsley, 6 celery leaves, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup whipping cream.

Cut off enough tips of asparagus to line mold, making them the exact height of the mold. Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Remove from water and cool. Chill until needed to line the mold. Scrape remaining asparagus an cut in short lengths. Add with 1 cup water to water in which asparagus was cooked. Tie onion, clove, carrot, parsley and celery leaves in a square of cheese cloth and add to asparagus. Cook until tender. Remove "bouquet garni" and press asparagus with the water in which it was cooked through a sieve. There should be about 1 cup.

Soften gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve over hot water. Add to asparagus puree and stir until cool. When mixture begins to thicken fold in cream whipped until firm. Turn into a mold lined with the asparagus prepared for this purpose and let stand until chilled and firm. Unmold onto a bed of lettuce and serve with French dressing.

This is an extremely attractive salad to serve unmolded on a large platter at the table.

Short Interviews With Famous Women

"I am very much opposed to any movement for the development of charm in women," says Inez Haynes Irwin, novelist. "In the first place they have altogether too much charm—so much indeed that they fill our daily press with love-troubles."

"In the second place, I consider charm per se a sort of vermi-form appendix to femininity. Like the appendix, charm is all right as long as it is quiescent. But the moment it becomes active, it must come out."

"Of course natural charm, which, like radium, occasionally occurs, is a great asset to anybody. But acquired charm—la, la! It's a frightful test of friendship, for instance, to discover that woman whom you have always loved and admired has suddenly elected to go charming. A friendship may survive it, but no social occasion can. It is as bad as going whimsical or glamorous."

"No, I think it is too late for women to develop charm, or perhaps to redevelop it. They've passed through that period. Who wants to have the measles again? And then personally, I much prefer the knock-down-and-drag-out method of the young women of the present day. They are go-getters. Go-getterism is as necessary a phase to femininity as charm, but a much later one."

"On the other hand, I would welcome any movement to develop charm in men. Some men are born with charm, but very few go in for a conscious development. We have no record of their experiences; probably most of them were murdered during the process."

Will Give Watches to Lucky Graduates

Last year Wm. E. Trein of the Trein Jewelry store presented a Bufoa wrist watch to a girl graduate and one to a boy graduate, through the medium of the large clock in the window on which were inscribed the names of the graduates from the Dixon High School. This year Mr. Trein is repeating the gift and in the same method. The large clock face has transcribed around the outer edge, that of the minute hand, the names of all the boys, and this year they are in the majority; and for the hour hand are the names of all the girls in the graduating class. There is much interest in the clock, school boys and girls gathering at intervals each day in front of the window to guess and conjecture who will get it, but that no one can tell. The clock was started last Friday and it is expected to stop some time Saturday and the names to which the hands point will denote the happy winners—a boy and a girl.

CRASHING THE HALL OF FAME

By Olive Roberts Barton
The longer I live the more I am amazed at the devious ways Fame has of choosing certain men and women to sit for portraits in her envied Hall.

True, some are born to greatness but the vast majority of those who become famous get there by their own efforts.

It always is an inspiration to read the honest life stories written by celebrities, stories that reveal not talent alone, but amazing perseverance and a determination to succeed.

There was a woman who composed songs and sold them for a mere pittance. There came a day when she had an opportunity to make a public appearance and present some of her own work. She had no gown and no money to buy one, but she knew how important it was for her to appear. She did appear and looked well in a white lace gown. No one knew that it had been a curtain and that she had made it herself. That was Carrie Jacobs Bond, who wrote "A Perfect Day" and other songs which brought her a fortune eventually. Such a woman would have succeeded in anything.

Alice Foote MacDougal, much in the papers recently on account of the tipping in her fashionable coffee-houses a few girls pay $10 a week to be waitresses, (on account of the excessive tips) is another woman whose ingenuity and perseverance and downright hard work brought her fame and fortune. Her story of her struggle, three small children and no money is most amazing.

Not ten years ago she was making coffee and hot waffles for the weary travelers in Grand Central Station. She had been accustomed to luxury as a girl and had all the advantages of travel and education, yet when the emergency came she was ready to meet it. She has her reward.

Mary Roberts Rinehart, a young doctor's wife with three babies and poor health, seldom had a free minute until after eight o'clock at night, when first she began to write stories. She did most of her writing after that hour. I have seen her at her desk at two in the morning. Not once, but many times.

Perseverance, hard work, determination to succeed—that is the only royal road to success in anything. It is a solitary game, too, this succeeding business. No one can do it for us but ourselves.

Last Phidian Art Meeting of Year Most Delightful

The Phidian Art club held the last meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. A. W. Chandler Tuesday afternoon.

Brief reports of the District Federation held at Freeport were given by Miss Fannie Murphy and Mrs. Lloyd Davies. Mrs. H. A. White and Mrs. A. P. Moore gave interesting accounts of the State Federation meeting held last week at the Stevens Hotel in Chicago. The music following the reports was especially delightful. A favorite of the Phidians, Mrs. Clayton Westland, formerly Miss Alice Coppins, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Dwight Chapman, played "Chaminade" by Kreiser and "Spray" by Cecil Burchough, after which an encore, they played "The Cradle Song," by Schubert.

Mrs. Wilson Dysart sang beautifully three numbers, "To Stay at Home, Is Best," by Medinkoff; "The Brownies," by Leoni; and "The Cuckoo Clock," by Grant Schafer. Mrs. Dysart was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Davies.

Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Chandler, assisted by Mrs. Elbert Chandler of Rockford; Miss Anderson and Miss Badger, Mrs. E. D. Alexander and Mrs. C. B. Morrison pouring. The out of doors attracted many where a glimpse of the river and lovely lawn, and wooded ravine, closed a delightful Phidian afternoon.

Springfield Driver Not Held by Coroner

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—(AP)—Clifford "Sunshine" Sawyer, 29, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Mary Link, 76, was at liberty today on a $7,000 bond, a Coroner's jury having refused to hold him.

Sawyer, police declared, was the driver of an automobile that struck and killed the aged woman several weeks ago. A Coroner's jury held the death accidental and the driver of the car "unknown to this jury." State's Attorney Fullenwider refused to dismiss the charge against Sawyer, however, who obtained his release on bonds. Sawyer had been held a week pending the investigation.

HAIR STOPS WEDDING
Toldo, O.—There was no mistaking Walter Stearns when he walked into the marriage license office here with the girl of his choice. "You're Walter Stearns of Allegan, Mich., aren't you?" said the clerk. "Well, I'm sorry, but your red hair has spoiled the elopement." Walter's parents had warned the office to be on the lookout for the youth because he was only 19, and they did not approve of the match.

THE DREAM OF PEACE.

We like to be considered a very practical people. We can think of no worse names to call those we dislike than "visionary" or "impractical." We pride ourselves on our hard-headedness.

So it is that, while we are a peace-loving nation, we do not give ourselves very wholeheartedly to organized peace movements. The opening of the convention of the American Peace Society, at Cleveland, O., the other day called forth many expressions of good will; but in our hard-headed, practical way most of us doubted that it would do very much real good.

Perhaps it won't. Wars usually are caused by deeply-rooted economic and social forces, which cannot well be remedied by the mere passing of resolutions and the printing of high-toned speeches. Yet the visionary often is wiser than his generation, and the glittering dream of today sometimes is destined to become the hard reality of tomorrow.

To be sure, the cause looks hopeless. But every cause that ever was worth supporting looked hopeless in the beginning; and the organized movement for world peace is not yet out of its swaddling clothes. It is hardly a century since the most fervid dreamer dared suppose that war could be abolished. It is hardly longer than that since the day when making war was universally acknowledged to be the prerogative of the sovereign, and no one suggested that the ordinary rank and file of the population, who would have to go out and be shot when war came, should have a voice in the matter at all.

Thus have our ideas changed in a little more than 100 years. Painfully and by inches, we have progressed. And the progress, such as it is, has come in spite of the hard-headed, practical folk; it has been accomplished by the visionary, impractical men and women who have been capable of devoting themselves to a dream.

That is the way great movements usually happen. Before any physical change there must be a spiritual change. Before we can have world peace we must want it, deeply and fervently. And the way to make ourselves want it is to talk about it, to agitate for it, to discuss it in every possible time and place.

"As a man thinketh, so is he." This is as true of nations as of individuals. If we think in terms of war we shall have war. If we think in terms of peace we shall—some day—have an enduring peace that cannot be shattered.

The practical man was ever led about by the nose by the visionary. It is the impractical man who, after all, is truly practical. He fights when the rest of us are too sensible to fight; he struggles against odds that our common sense tells us are too great. And in the end, he wins. His dreams—such, for instance, as the dream of world peace—finally come true.

PRESIDENTIAL PROPAGANDA.

During the coming presidential campaign we will be treated to a great deal of sly, insidious propaganda. And we suspect that the deluge is already beginning.

The other day a dispatch from Albany told how Governor Al Smith forgot his wedding anniversary. A photographer came to the executive mansion to get pictures of the governor and Mrs. Smith on the happy occasion—and found that the governor, forgetting the occasion, had gone out to play golf. He hurried after him and informed him of his oversight; the governor sped back home, the photos were taken and an impromptu party was arranged.

To us that sounds like a bid for the married man's vote. Breathes there a husband who has not forgotten that holy anniversary at some time or another, and who has not, in consequence, had to scurry about at the last minute to cover up his oversight? If Al Smith can enroll the vote of men who forget their wedding anniversary, he is as good as elected right now.

American engineers are studying a $500,000,000 Argentina-Chile canal project. Just as if the marines weren't busy enough now.

A meteorologist the other day expressed the theory that radio waves may be causing some of the bad weather. Maybe the radio sopranos are taking the wrong kind of ether.

THE ANYMITE'S
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

With nails and saws and hammers set, wee Scouty cried, "Come on, let's get to work upon our houseboat now. What are we loafing for? 'You're right,' the friendly woodsman said. 'This best that we all go ahead and sail right in. Now, first of all, pick big boards for the floor.'

"This part we'll have to do just right. The houseboat must be watertight, so it will float upon the stream. How awful it would be if, when we try it, it would sink. You'd all get soaking wet. Just think! But, let's not worry over that. Just leave it all to me."

And, as the saws and hammers flew, the first thing that the Tines knew, the houseboat floor was finished, and 'twas solid as could be. "Now," said the woodsman, "please take note that I have made it so 'twill float. You need not be afraid when you are sailing out to sea."

Then Scouty said, "Well, let's not stop. I think this houseboat should have a top. Here are four posts that we can use to hold the roof up high." The woodsman smiled. "Well, mercy me, they'll fit exactly right," said he. "Go right ahead and start it. You can do it, if you try."

It was a tiresome task, no doubt, but all the others helped him out, and soon the houseboat had a roof that really looked quite grand. "Say, this is classy," Clowny said. "I like good shelter o'er my head. Whenever there's a rainstorm we will know just where to stand."

It wasn't long till Copy cried, "Hey, all of you come on inside. I'm sure I felt a little drop of water on my brow. The roof we've built was not in vain. I'm sure that it is going to rain." And, as they huddled, Copy said, "You're right! It's raining now!"

(The houseboat is finished in the next story).

MARYE and MOM
Their Letters

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

My dear Marye:
You certainly can twist things around to suit yourself. But I really am amused at you. Can't you see that Florence already is applying the experience she has gained with you? She sees you doing precisely as you please? Why shouldn't she? Don't you suppose she knows that Alan wouldn't approve of your going out with Norman? But you do it anyway. Then why should your disapproval keep her from doing the same? If you do not care for what Alan thinks, why should she care for what you think?

No, I don't consider she has done anything for you to call a betrayal of your trust. Though naturally I do think it's terrible for a girl to stay out most of the night. I don't know why it is but most of the world's mischief is perpetrated after sundown. Late hours are as conducive to evil as is idleness. One reason I think is that people need artificial stimulus to make the time pass pleasantly at night. Late at night, I mean, when, if there was nothing exciting to do everyone would go home.

And when the senses are excited and a sleepy body is kept animated with music and gaiety the mind becomes less rational than usual.

I can't believe that a girl isn't running a risk of making a mistake of some kind if she turns night into day. It isn't normal. And it may be dangerous. I don't care how you deand it; I think it cheapens a girl.

Now I suppose you will say you told Florence to turn in early. What if you did? It was only to serve your own ends and to keep Alan from being cross, and not because you have tried to make Florence keep sensible hours for her own good. No, Marye, you are only reaping as you sowed with Florence.

But I am not amused at your seeing this Pedro again. That worries me.

Lovingly,
MOM.

Illinois Briefs

Urbana—Already credited with much of the agricultural progress so far made in the United States, the farm press will send one of the strongest delegations of representatives expected to attend the eleventh annual conference of the American Country Life Association, June 19, 20 and 21, at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Sixteen editors and publishers of farm journals in ten different states already have reported that they or their chosen representatives would attend the sessions.

Rural-urban relations is to be the theme of the meeting. A score or more of other organizations and groups besides the farm press are expected to have representatives here to help smooth out difficulties and encourage mutually profitable cooperation between city men and farmers.

Iowa, New York, Ohio, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, and Michigan, besides Illinois, are the states already represented in reports to date.

Included among the farm journals which will have representatives here for the meeting are five which have rendered signal service for agriculture. One of these was responsible for the first agricultural experiment station in the country; another carried on the early promotion of the silo, featuring its efforts with a unique "silo convention" in 1889; a third claims the distinction of having the first published to bring advertising experts into direct personal contact with farming and farmers to show farm purchasing power; a fourth did much to stimulate the boys' and girls' agricultural club movement, while the fifth inaugurated the running of dairy, corn and good roads trains.

Springfield—Illinois ranks seventh in mineral production, partly due to the coal output, figures by the department of commerce show. Pennsylvania with its tremendous output of coal continued to lead the states. In addition to coal, cement, clay products and natural gas contributed heavily to Pennsylvania's mineral production, which amounted to $1,055,766,000 in 1926.

In this state, clay products, petroleum and cement helped to enlarge the revenue, which amounted to $237,242,000 in 1926. Neighboring states of Kentucky, Indiana, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, ranked 9, 11, 16, 26 and 32 respectively.

Springfield—The Board of Education of a recognized high school, may refuse to admit pupils from a non-high school district on the grounds that funds are unavailable to pay tuition, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom ruled here today. The Board may however, Carlstrom declared, refuse to admit pupils from a non-high school district unless tuition is paid either by parents or the district.

In the event that not enough funds from the district are available, he said, such available funds should be applied toward payment of tuition for all pupils going from such a district, and the deficit made up by the parents.

However, a non-high school district has authority to issue anticipation tax warrants under provisions of the statutes, which, Carlstrom said, should be sufficient to cover the tuition expense.

Springfield—One cannot hold the office of alderman of a city and at the same time be a member of the board of review, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom ruled here today.

An alderman belongs to the legislative department, Carlstrom said, in basing his opinion under Article III of the state constitution while a member of the board of review would be exercising a function belonging to the executive department, which the constitution forbids, he said.

construction on the primary law, the attorney general cited the clause in the law which says that in case a candidate should die before election

HEALTH & DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy
the Best Way to Health
 QUESTIONS IN REGARD TO HEALTH & DIET WILL BE ANSWERED BY DR. FRANK MCCOY IN CARE OF THIS PAPER. ENCLOSE STAMPED ADDRESS ENVELOPE FOR REPLY.

Dr. McCoy, Los Angeles specialist, will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Telegraph. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

SWOLLEN ANKLES

Many people are affected with a swelling of their ankles, but this swelling often extends up into the abdomen, or other regions of the body. In some cases this will be so severe as to press against the diaphragm, causing difficult breathing because of the interference with diaphragmatic action.

Dropsy is not a disease in itself, but a symptom caused by escaping fluid from the blood or lymph into the cavities of the body or under the skin. Probably the most common dropsical condition is that produced as a result of heart derangements. If there is a poor tone of the heart, there is a correspondingly poor tone in the whole circulatory system, and the blood serum will easily stagnate in different parts of the body, particularly in the extremities.

Another form of dropsy is produced by the kidneys not eliminating a large enough amount of liquid for the urine, and much is retained in the tissues. The progress of the swelling is similar to that caused by the heart derangement. Only a physician is able to distinguish between the two kinds of dropsical conditions. A careful examination is necessary to determine whether the circulation of blood is defective, or whether the stagnation of the lymphatic circulation is from the kidneys.

A form of dropsy less frequently met with is a water dropsy produced when the liver becomes engorged with toxic material.

The usual treatment for dropsical symptoms is to administer a drug, such as digitalis, to hasten the interstitial blood flow, or contract the small capillaries. In those cases that are not relieved, the swollen parts are punctured by an ordinary aspirating needle, with rubber tubing attached, which may be left in place for hours, thus draining away large amounts of fluid. This method of "tapping" is very frequently used in cases of abdominal dropsy.

While these methods may be permitted as an emergency treatment, I do not believe that any permanent good results unless the internal cause of the disorder is removed.

As dropsy is only a symptom, it will be necessary for a patient to have a very thorough examination made that he may be properly diagnosed. The original cause of this condition must be treated in the proper manner before any cure can be expected.

If any of my readers, who are troubled in this way, will give me a complete history of their case, and the report of the diagnosis of their physician, I will be glad to send some helpful suggestions regarding diet, exercise, and a suitable home treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: H. B. J. writes: "Have catarrh very badly in the eyes, ears, nose and throat, also bothered with indigestion. Would like to try an orange diet if I thought it would benefit me, but I am so thin I am afraid to try the diet for fear of losing more weight. Would it help any to eliminate starches and sugars instead of taking the orange diet, or what would you advise?"

ANSWER: Do not be afraid of getting thinner on the orange juice fast, as it cannot hurt you in any way, but will surely bring rapid results in the cure of your catarrhal troubles. Afterward, leave out starches and sugars for a period of several months if you wish to entirely drain the system of all excess catarrhal mucus.

QUESTION: Mrs. W. H. asks: "Which is the best salad dressing, mayonnaise or French dressing? I mean, from a dietetic viewpoint."

ANSWER: I do not recommend salad dressing of the ordinary kind which are made with vinegar or lemon. I have a special article on salad dressings that I will be glad to forward upon receipt of a stamped, self addressed envelope. In the meantime, use olive oil on your salads.

QUESTION: Office Worker writes: "For a long time I have found it hard to get to sleep or to sleep the night through. What would cause this?"

ANSWER: The principal cause of insomnia is digestive trouble, such as excess fermentation of food which produces gas pressure against the heart or diaphragm. Even though you are not conscious of such pressure, it is sufficient to unconsciously irritate you and keep you from getting into a deep slumber.

Bigger Strawberry Crop is in Prospect

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—(AP)—The 1928 strawberry crop of Illinois will exceed that of 1927 by approximately 50 per cent, according to a survey issued jointly by the United States department of agriculture and the division of standardizations and markets, Illinois department of agriculture.

From observations made by experienced fruit inspectors, and from local observers, the reports from strawberry production centers carefully compiled, reveal prospects for this increase in quantity. As to the quality, conditions are considered very promising. Adverse weather during April has delayed the movement practically one month. Indications are that the bulk of the strawberry crop of Illinois will move within the next three weeks. This is unusual as the market run of Illinois strawberries is usually more prolonged.

Adams county strawberry prospects do not show any material increase in tonnage as acreage is about the same as last year, and some patches are not in condition to produce a good crop.

Pulaski county berries started car lot movement this week. Acreage is not expanded materially since last season, but the yield per acre will show a marked increase. With favorable weather during the harvesting season, the outlook now indicates a very high quality of strawberries from Pulaski county points.

Massack county will show a heavy increase over 1927. This district is just coming into prominence as a strawberry production county. New beds should turn out high quality berries with favorable weather conditions.

The Fayette-Marion county district will show a marked increase in tonnage over 1927. As the crop nears maturity, it indicates more nearly a normal crop than in recent years. Harvesting in this section will begin about June 1.

MINERS' REVOLT DOOMED TO FAIL UNIONISTS HOLD

"Save the Unionists" in Illinois Meet With Disfavor

Belleville, Ill., May 22—(AP)—After he tried to address the city council, Luke Caffey, vice president of the "Save the Union" organization, which voted Saturday to oust the United Mine Workers officials, was arrested and held fifteen minutes here last night.

Mayor Anton ruled Caffey could not speak without the unanimous consent of the council, which was not given, and the arrest followed the adjournment, when Caffey attempted to address a part of the body. He threatened to take action for false arrest.

Branding the attempt of the "save the Unionists" to wrest the control from the regular officers of the United Mine Workers of America as communistic, Walter Nesbit, state secretary-treasurer of the organization, said last night that the movement would undoubtedly prove a failure.

Workers in Illinois were at their jobs as usual yesterday, secretary Nesbit said.

NO RECOGNITION
Livingston, Ill., May 22—(AP)—Livingston members of the United Mine Workers of America will not recognize the "Save-the-Union" organization "ostensibly formed at Belleville, Ill., to defeat the regularly adopted policy of the union." Walter Koch, district board member, and Louis Gori, president of Local No. 2656, said in a statement here today.

"The membership of this local union will be advised to live up to the policy adopted by the regularly constituted convention, held in Indianapolis January 1927, which adopted a policy favoring and demanding a continuation of the Jacksonville agreement which calls for no reduction in wages," the statement said.

Cold April Weather Hurt Peach Crops

Springfield, Ill., May 23—(AP)—Freezing weather during April, materially reduced the peach crop prospects, but there is apparently a fair crop left in the extreme southern counties. This encouraging information is gathered by local observers and compiled and issued through the joint federal and state departments of agriculture, and will appear in the section's first official fruit bulletin, issued by that division and the division of standardization and markets, Illinois department of agriculture, today.

Counties that heretofore have never been considered as fruit production centers may produce quite a tonnage of peaches this year, from new orchards just coming into production. Uncertainty as to the seriousness of the crop, throughout the peach growing counties, renders any accurate computation of the state's peach output impractical at this season, according to observers who have visited the orchards.

From the several peach orchard sections, reports compiled by the cooperative crop estimates division yield the following information:

In Union county, present prospects indicate the crop will compare favorably in tonnage with that of last year. The location of the orchards is apparently the factor that determines the extent of damage frost effected. All orchards on high ground apparently escaped with very little damage. In the low lands, some of the orchards have practically no fruit left. It is hard to estimate, with accuracy, just how severely the frost reduced the prospects of tonnage as compared to last year.

Johnson county frost damage is found very irregular. Some orchards have come through with indications of a good crop, and others located just as well, are apparently damaged seriously. Earning adverse conditions, and a heavier drop than usual, Johnson county will likely show a slight increase in production.

The Marion-Jefferson county district probably shows the greatest loss from frost of all peach sections of the state. Just how this season's peach production in this section will compare with that of 1927 is very difficult to determine at this early date, due to the variance of conditions and the uncertainty of the expected drop. From the Richland-Jasper county section, indications are that production in that territory is expected from reports.

ucts thereof by artificially controlling the surpluses so that there will be an apparent scarcity on the market."

Hopes For Legislation.

The veto ended with expression of hope that farm legislation "along the lines suggested in my last annual message, with which many of the provisions of this bill are in harmony, may be enacted."

Mr. Coolidge wrote a twelve-page printed pamphlet outlining his objections to the bill and included with it another pamphlet of equal size giving the views of Attorney General Sargent on the legal phases of the measure.

The objection of the President were summarized by him under these six headings:

"First, its attempted price-fixing policy."

"Second, the tax characteristics of the equalization fee."

"Third, the widespread bureaucracy which it would set up."

"Fourth, its encouragement to profiteering and wasteful distribution by middlemen."

"Fifth, its stimulation of overproduction."

"Sixth, its aid to our foreign agricultural competitors."

In addition, he declared that "these topics by no means exhaust the list of bills of fallacious and, indeed, dangerous aspects of the bill, but they afford ample grounds for its emphatic rejection."

"In conclusion," Mr. Coolidge declared, "if the measure is enacted one would be led to wonder how long it would be before producers in other lines would clamor for similar 'equalizing' subsidies from the public coffers. The lobbies of Congress would be filled with emissaries from every momentarily distressed industry demanding relief at the expense of the Treasury. Once we plunge into the futile sophistries of such a system of wholesale commercial doles for special groups of middlemen and distributors at the expense of farmers and other producers, it is difficult to see what the end might be."

Real Sound Basis.

"I have believed at all times that the only sound basis for further federal government action in behalf of agriculture would be to encourage its adequate organization to assist in building up marketing agencies and facilities in the control of the farmers themselves. I want to see them undertake, under their own management, the marketing of their products under such conditions as will enable them to bring about greater stability in prices and less waste in marketing, but entirely within unalterable economic laws."

"Such a program, supported by a strong protected tariff on farm products, is the best method of effecting a permanent cure of existing agricultural ills. Such a program is in accordance with the American tradition and the American idea of reliance on the maintenance of private initiative and individual responsibility, and the duty of the government is discharged when it has provided conditions under which individuals can achieve success."

"I am still hopeful that legislation along the lines suggested in my last annual message, with which many of the provisions of this bill are in harmony, may be enacted, but this bill embodies substantially all of the objectionable features which I said in that message to the Congress. I could not endorse."

The McNary-Haugen bill as sent to the White House by Congress had been described by its supporters as presenting two "distinct and entirely separable remedies" for farm relief. The first of the proposals for the stabilization and control of surplus agricultural crops would be by means of loans to cooperatives at low rates of interest, while the second, in the event the first should fail, would be used for the equalization fee machinery.

The bill has 21 sections with the following provisions:

Section 1—Sets forth a declaration of policy by Congress in favor of the orderly marketing of agricultural commodities and would provide authority for the following: Control and disposition of crop surpluses; preservation of advantageous domestic markets; prevention of surpluses from unduly depressing the prices obtained for a commodity and from causing undue and excessive fluctuations in the market; minimizing of speculation and waste in marketing a commodity; and furthering the organization of cooperative associations.

Federal Farm Board

Section 2—Creates a federal farm board of 12 members, one from each of the 12 Federal Land Bank districts, with the Secretary of Agriculture as an ex-officio member. The President would select the board with Senate approval.

Section 3—Defines general powers of board such as right to select chairman, establish offices in Washington and fix salaries of its employees. It also directs the board to keep advised as to the general supply and demand situation with respect to any agricultural commodity.

Section 4—Provides for the creation of commodity councils of seven members for each agricultural commodity.

The members of these councils would be selected by the board from lists submitted by farm organizations and the governors of states. These councils would determine when the equalization fee machinery would be placed in operation on the commodity they respectively represented.

Section 5—Provides for loans by the board to cooperatives or their subsidiary corporations to assist in controlling a seasonal or year's total surplus produced in the United States and either local or national in extent that is in excess of the requirements for orderly marketing or in excess of the domestic requirements for such commodity.

It also provides for loans for the purpose of providing cooperatives with working capital and working facilities.

Section 6—Designed to discourage abnormal expansion by providing that if the advice of the board as to a program of planting or breeding of any agricultural commodity is disregarded by the producers who contrary to the advice increase the planting or breeding abnormally, the board may refuse advances for the purpose of surplus control.

Section 7—Confers the additional powers of investigation upon the board to determine whether a surplus of any commodity exists or is likely to exist; whether the surplus threatens to depress the price of a commodity below the cost of production and whether the nature of the commodity adapts it to safe storage or future disposal.

Clearing Houses

Section 8—Provides for the creation of clearing house and terminal market associations to coordinate the activities of shippers in preventing glut upon the market.

Section 9—Empowers the board to enter into marketing agreements and subject to the consent of advisory councils previously referred to, to place the equalization fee machinery in operation. The negotiation of the marketing agreements would be dependent upon findings by the board as to whether the prospective surplus would be in excess of the domestic requirements. When the findings are made by the board, marketing agreements would be consummated with the cooperative associations to provide for the storage of the commodity by the cooperatives and its purchase and disposal by the board. The board could advance funds from its stabilization fund to aid the cooperatives in carrying out the marketing agreement.

Section 10—Provides for the equalization fee machinery. The funds obtained from levying the fee would be used to repay any amounts advanced from the revolving fund. The fee would be assessed in each commodity marketed by the board, thus compelling the producers to contribute their share of the costs and losses incurred in the disposition of the surplus. The board would be required to estimate in advance of any marketing period in which the fee machinery would be used, the probable sum needed to cover the costs and losses that might result from its operation and also to estimate the amount of the fee to be collected from the commodity. The fee would be collected upon the transportation, processing or sale of the commodity at a time specified by the board.

Section 11—Directs the board to establish a "stabilization fund" for each agricultural commodity handled through the marketing agreements, the money to be advanced out of the revolving fund. The equalization fees collected are to be deposited in the stabilization fund to make good any payments required under the marketing agreements, so that advances from the revolving fund may be repaid as the equalization fees come in. Profits from marketing agreements go into the stabilization fund for that commodity.

Section 12—Authorizes the board to enter into insurance contracts with cooperatives. The price against whose decline the board would insure a cooperative association would be the average price for a basic grade of the commodity in the particular market or exchange designated by the board in the contract; provides two alternative methods of meeting cost of payments under insurance agreements, one through payment of premiums and the other by drawing from the stabilization fund during the marketing period of the commodity. Limits insurance agreements to twelve month periods.

Section 13—Provides for the authorization of a $400,000,000 appropriation to be known as a "revolving fund."

Section 14—Empowers the federal accounting office to examine the books and accounts of the board.

Section 15—Permits the assignment of government officials by the president to serve the board in collection of agricultural data.

Section 16—Defines various terms of the legislation.

Section 17—Authorizes an $500,000 appropriation for the administrative expenses of the act incurred prior to July 1, 1929. This would be the initial appropriation toward the revolving fund.

Section 18—Provides that if any portion of the act is held invalid, the remainder of the measure would not be impaired. This would be to pre-constitute the equalization fee provisions from hindering use by the board of the loan provisions.

Section 19—Declares that no provision of the act is intended to amend or modify the Capper-Volstead act.

Section 20—Makes it unlawful for any person connected with the board or a cooperative association or agency to impart confidential information under penalty of $10,000 fine or ten years imprisonment or both.

Section 21—Designates the act as the "surplus control act."

Political Gossip

Dallas, Texas, May 23—(AP)—The fight for control of Texas delegations to the national conventions of the two major parties continued today with two rival Republican contingents seeking seats at Kansas City while the Democrats entered the second day of their state convention at Beaumont.

After a stormy session here yesterday, the Republican faction headed by R. E. Creager, national committeeman, instructed 22 district delegates and four delegates-at-large for Herbert Hoover. This action followed an argument between Creager forces and a group headed by C. C. Littleton of Fort Worth, and Harry M. Wurzbach, only Republican representative from Texas. The latter faction demanded an uninstructed delegation.

When the argument was at its height, some one threw an ink well through a plate glass door and Littleton was arrested. He quickly made bond and the Littleton-Wurzbach faction assembled in a separate convention, named four delegates at large and announced they would carry their fight for recognition to the Republican national convention.

In the skirmishing for control of the 40 Texas Democratic delegates, the so-called "Harmony" group, led by Governor Dan Moody, gained control of the state convention at Beaumont through a coalition with a minority faction favoring the candidacy of Governor Smith of New York.

Governor Moody and his followers favor a dry candidate and a prohibition plank and are opposed to instruction for or against any candidate by name.

LINDBERGH TAKES "FULL-TIME JOB" WITH NEW LINES

To Have Supervision of Transcontinental Air Transport Co.

New York, May 23—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has decided to enter the commercial airplane field and has accepted a "full time job" as chairman of the technical committee of the recently formed Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc.

He is to assume his post at once and will take charge of putting into operation the rail and plane service between New York and the Pacific Coast which the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Atchafalpa, Topeka & Santa Fe, the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, the Curtiss Airplane & Motor Corporation and the National Air Transport, Inc., cooperated in forming.

J. Cheever Cowdin, a member of the board of directors of the company, who made the announcement after a conference between the directors and Col. Lindbergh, said that it was a "full time job" and it was believed any plans the Colonel might have had for further "good will flying" would be cancelled, at least for the present.

Full Supervision. The announcement said that Colonel Lindbergh would have supervision over "all matters concerning choice of equipment, fields, general service, flying routes and safety appliances."

Efforts to obtain the services of Lindbergh for the new company have been made repeatedly, but his decision to join the company in an official capacity was not made until yesterday, however.

The Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., has been incorporated for $5,000,000 and plans a combined rail and plane service by which passengers will fly during the day time and make the night journeys over the mountains by train.

Plan Other Service. The date of commencement of the new service will depend on the work of Colonel Lindbergh and his committee and the speed with which it selects the planes to be used, completes details of the route, flying schedules and landing fields.

Col. Paul Henderson, a director of the company and general manager of the National Air Transport, said in Chicago that other lines are eventually to be put into operation. He said two other large joint rail-road-plane lines were now in prospect, and that both would include Chicago. The primary route to the Pacific coast runs through St. Louis and thence west through the southern states.

TO EXTEND SERVICE

St. Louis, Mo., May 23—(AP)—Inauguration of a twice-a-day passenger service between St. Louis and Chicago, and later establishment of routes to Omaha and the Mexican border, was announced today by the Robertson Aircraft Corporation.

With four fourteen-passenger all metal tri-motored airplanes ordered the corporation, which has expanded its capitalization to a million dollars expects to start the Chicago service about August 1.

The service to Omaha will start as soon as the air mail route can be lighted, probably about six months hence. Negotiations are also going forward to establish a line to Dallas, Texas, and the border, and the company hopes later to establish a line to Mexico City. Arnold Stifel, who will head the company said.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has been invited to join the directorate of the company, for which he once worked as a test pilot and later as a mail pilot. The Robertson Company has the air mail contract from St. Louis to Chicago and St. Louis to Omaha by way of Kansas City.

Restores Hearing With German Discovery

Science has made remarkable progress in making it possible for deafened people to hear. Recognized authorities on both continents consider a new discovery called "Duton Combinations" the most perfect means of making the deaf hear instantly. The device when worn is practically unnoticeable and the ear piece is so tiny it is worn in and not on the ear. Results are astonishing even in the most severe cases. Dr. Hugo Lieber is the distributor in the United States for this German invention. One of his experts, D. Farber, is making a demonstration in Chicago at the local office, Room 1812, Dept. 143 59 E. Madison St. Those who are deaf should call at once for demonstration. Those who cannot call should write for full particulars—Adv.

Store of Former Officer Raided

Freeport.—City police Monday night secured a quantity of alcohol and arrested three inmates in a soft drink parlor operated by Charles Vick, former member of the police force. Vick's son, Fred, was in charge of the establishment and was also taken into custody. The quartet will be given a hearing late today. Acting on a "tip," officers surrounded the store which was "dark" at the time. Entrance was gained from upstairs and the younger Vick with his alleged patrons, whose names are being withheld, immediately submitted to arrest.

POSSIBLE "FIRST LADY" Mrs. Herbert Hoover

Editor's Note. This is the second of a series on the wives of presidential candidates, by Allene Sumner, staff writer for the Evening Telegraph and NEA Service. Miss Sumner has interviewed the leading prospective First Ladies for this series.

BY ALLENE SUMNER
Telegraph and NEA Service Writer
Washington, May 23—The break, fast of Herbert Hoover always and invariably consists of fresh strawberries with powdered sugar and Mrs. Hoover.

This does not mean that the secretary of commerce has cannibalistic tendencies. It merely means that his day starts all wrong without both strawberries and "The Madame," as he calls Mrs. Hoover, in the bosom of the cheery Hoover home.

What's more, Mrs. Hoover just as unabashed declares that her day's all wrong, too, if she doesn't have Herbert for breakfast. This despite the fact that Hoover breakfasts are famous in official Washington for their heartiness. There are always the strawberries when humanly possible, big platters of waffles or hot cakes with butter, sausage or bacon and eggs, buttered toast and coffee.

The Hoover breakfasts have been almost as famous during the past administration as the pancake-and-sirup-and-sausage ones in the big White House on Pennsylvania avenue, for the Hoovers are always "at home" to their friends at breakfast time.

"Tut" is Honored Guest
The Hoover breakfasts cannot be dismissed without mention of Tut, the big police dog, who quite humilitates the mistress of the Hoover breakfast table by poking his aristocratic nose over the table's edge every few minutes for nibbles of toast and sausage and strawberries.

"I know that feeding dogs at table isn't done in the best families," Mrs. Hoover laughs, "but Daddy will feed Tut, and, to tell the truth, I don't mind it so much myself."

The Hoovers are like that at home—jovial, cheery informal, "folksy." If there's time before she drives with "Daddy" down to the Department of Commerce building, Mrs. Hoover will show him her latest baby sacque or bootees, knitted for baby Peggy Ann, 2, whom her grandmother pronounces "the very image of her Grandfather Hoover." Peggy Ann and her senior brother, Herbert the Third, 3, are the children of Herbert Hoover, Jr., who lives in Cambridge.

There are those who will tell you that Mrs. Hoover is "high brow." They are awed by her college degree from Stanford, her authorship of a recondite work on mining, her affiliation with this organization and that.

But the picture of Mrs. Hoover, the "highbrow," has been much more painted than that of Mrs. Hoover the sweet-faced, gray-haired woman in the 50's who knits whenever she sits down for a moment and who has a dozen knitting bags scattered over the lovely red brick house on S street. Who is as proud of her Italian cutwork luncheon set, with the Capitol and Lincoln Memorial design as of her authorship, and who likes nothing better than to get into a rough-and-ready jersey suit of a Sunday and go out with the secretary and any available children for a picnic with old coffee pot and skillet.

There are no frills at these Hoover picnics—no iced drinks in thermos bottles, no salads nor frozen ices toted along in a modern picnic ice basket. It is rumored that Mrs. Hoover despises marshmallows at a picnic.

There'll be the old coffee pot and skillet and bacon and eggs and wieners and potatoes and corn to roast in the ashes. They say that Lou Henry Hoover is prouder of the chicken she once roasted in clay mud at a picnic than of her Library of Congress author's card.

The Hoover table is famous for plenty of good, wholesome food, "but no spun sugar doo-dads."

Mary's Menus
"Mary," who knows the gastronomic likes and dislikes of all official Washington, wears the descending mantle of Mark Hanna's "Maggie." Only Mary's specialty is not only hash, but cucumber cream sauce, buttered asparagus, potatoes a dozen ways.

They say that Mary makes her menus according to the guest list, trying to give each guest at least one favorite dish.

The entire Hoover menage is like that. Servants usually reflect employers, and the courtesy and consideration of every servant in the Hoover home is a shining tribute to the standards of that home.

A smiling black boy throws the white door wide open the minute a car stops at the door; the visitor is ushered into the living room before any inquiries are made.

As I sat in the "Green Room" waiting for Mrs. Hoover, a smiling colored servant with a blue and white checked gingham apron tied under his chin hummed happily as he laid the mahogany table with an ecru lace luncheon set. The smell of asparagus soup wafted from the kitchen.

"Don't that smell good, though, miss?" the smiling boy asked, inviting me to come and inspect his table. "Do you like this bouquet or that one best?" he asked, trying yellow loppies and pink snap-dragons.

A Homey Palace
The Hoover home is that rare combination, a homey palace—a livable rich man's house. The Green Room with looped back green taffeta curtains, pink freesias in a blue bowl, white paneled walls, was a haven for books—hundreds of them—first editions in time-seasoned morocco. Poetry, fiction, history, everything.

Hammered brasses in the form of samovars, bowls and plaques are everywhere, telling the story of the Hoovers' life in China.

Mrs. Hoover, by the way, doesn't especially like the legend which had her shooting over the barricade with Herbert during the Boxer rebellion, she says. "As a matter of fact I was two blocks behind the barricade and merely tried to see that the men at the barricade were well fed."

She did, though, tap the sugar and tea casks that made the barricade, in order to serve hot tea to the amateur soldiers. One knows that she forgot the gracious hostess role of coyly asking "lemon or cream?" and gave them all cream—"for dairy products are so healthful."

Samovars and coffee urns are as numerous as pictures of Herbert, second, and Herbert's children and Allan. For the Hoovers are always ready to drink a cup of tea with anyone who drops in in the afternoon.

"No Home Without Garden"
The secretary's study opens onto the porch, from which the most beautiful garden ever seen carries its prim little shelled walks down the ravine. Purple and pink and white hyacinths, yellow forsythia, lilacs, gaudy tulips and frothy bushes of white were everywhere.

"There is no home without a garden," according to Mrs. Hoover, who believes that homes—happy ones—are the most important things in the world.

"It is the right of every child to have a happy home," is one of the few creeds in words. "Every wife's first job is her home," she says further, intimating that no home can contain two fully-developed individuals and that, when necessary, the wife should submerge herself to make "a background for her husband."

Mrs. Hoover is medium height, gray-haired, with that striking combination of blue eyes and jet black eyebrows. Her skin is pink and white. Her clothes are modish but simple. She seems to prefer line to fuss and frills. She never goes to a beauty parlor, putting her own water wave in her pretty hair, and not even letting her maid "fuss" with her very much. She's not "fat" at all, but she looks at her slim young secretaries ruefully and says, "I was just like you once."

She takes a nap every afternoon and makes Herbert go to bed early.

"Girls on the Horse"
"Plenty of sleep can make one fit for anything," she says.

She is like her name, Lou, which she insists in just Lou, and not short for Louise or Lucy or anything. She is like that—crisp and to the point and breezy and peppy and delightful.

They called her "the girl on the horse" out at Leland Stanford when she went to school there. She is just that—and it's not a high horse. It's a horse carrying a gracious, alert, modern woman right into the thick of life. She likes to be there. But she likes best to come home again.

COOKING SCHOOL NEWS

Miss Bliss's important discovery in taste

FOR a long time we have been suggesting that housekeepers test Crisco by actually tasting it before they use it for cakes and pies and frying.

Why? Because we knew this test would convince them that the sweet delicate flavor of Crisco could not help but improve the flavor of foods prepared with it. Let Miss Mary A. Bliss tell you how she feels about Crisco:

"I tasted my Crisco and really, I never thought I could make such a discovery. I knew that Crisco was unparalleled for obtaining that wholesome rich flavoring, in frying and baking, but never did I believe that such a delightfully fresh taste could be found in Crisco direct from the can.

"I am a New Englander by birth, and so, of course, apple-pie and doughnuts are two of my weaknesses. Before I discovered the use of Crisco, my doughnuts were soggy and my pie-crust was tough. Now I am told by my friends that never have they eaten such crisp doughnuts and flaky pie-crust as I make."

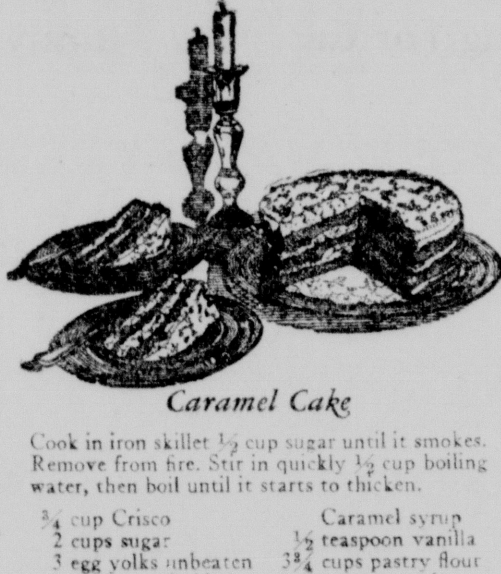

See if the test suggested below doesn't give you, too, the surprise of your whole cooking experience:

Put a little Crisco on the tip of a spoon. On the tip of another, a little of any other shortening. Taste first Crisco, then the other fat. Had you imagined there could be such a difference in the taste of cooking fats? Think what an improvement Crisco's sweet, wholesome flavor will make in the taste of your own pies, cakes, muffins, biscuits and fried foods.

Apple Sauce Cake
1 1/2 cup Crisco 1 teaspoon baking powder
1 1/2 cups sugar 1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup thick unsweetened apple sauce 1/2 teaspoon cloves
2 cups pastry flour 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup seeded raisins 1 teaspoon soda
1 egg beaten 3 tablespoons hot water
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream sugar and Crisco. Add egg and raisins cut in half. Dissolve soda in hot water, mix with apple sauce. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Add alternately with apple sauce to creamed mixture. Bake in Criscoed loaf pan in moderate oven 350° F. one hour.

Caramel Cake
Cook in iron skillet 1/2 cup sugar until it smokes. Remove from fire. Stir in quickly 1/2 cup boiling water, then boil until it starts to thicken.

1/4 cup Crisco 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sugar 3/4 cups pastry flour
3 egg yolks unbeaten 1/2 cup milk
4 teaspoons baking powder 1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk 3 egg whites stiffly beaten

Cream Crisco and sugar. Add yolks, caramel, vanilla and cream well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add alternately with milk. Fold in egg whites. Bake in 3 layers 1/2 hour in moderate oven 350° F.

Walnut Loaf Cake
1/2 cup Crisco 2 1/4 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup sugar 3 egg yolks beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup milk
3/4 cup chopped walnuts 2 egg whites beaten
1 1/4 cups pastry flour

Cream Crisco, sugar and salt. Add yolks, nuts and milk, then flour, and baking powder sifted together three times. Last fold in egg whites. Bake 45 minutes in Criscoed angel cake pan in moderate oven 350° F. Cover top and sides with plain icing. Sprinkle with chopped walnuts or use them whole. The Caramel Nut Icing is also delicious on this cake.

Nut Caramel Frosting
1 cup brown sugar 1/4 cup broken walnuts
1/2 cup white sugar 1/2 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon vanilla 2 egg whites stiffly beaten

Boil sugars and water until it forms a ball in cold water. Beat slowly into egg whites. Continue beating until cool. Add pinch Cream of Tartar, vanilla and nuts.

LOWDEN ORDERED CAMPAIGN FUNDS SHOULD BE SMALL

Manager of Illinois Man's Campaign Before
Committee

Washington, May 23.—(AP)—With five more witnesses off its list, the Senate campaign funds committee today called Frank J. Hale of New York, publisher of the weekly magazine, Politics, which is opposing the candidacy of Herbert Hoover, for testimony as to the financing of that publication.

Harry Price, editor of the magazine, told the committee more than a week ago that he originated the anti-Hoover policy of the publication and that Hale was standing a loss of $500 with every issue.

With the completion of Hale's testimony, the committee planned an executive session to determine a future course and to decide when it will go to Ohio and Indiana to inquire further into the financing of the campaigns for Hoover and Senator Watson.

A total of $156,611.40, representing expenditures in behalf of five candidates for the Republican and Democratic presidential nominations, was uncovered by the committee yesterday.

Tuesday's Figures
The expenditures and the candidates for whom they were made were given as follows:

Atlee Pomeroy, Democrat, $100.
Frank O. Lowden, Republican, $58,552.90.
Herbert Hoover, Republican, $49,722.17.

Frank B. Willis, Republican (deceased) $46,159.18.
Alfred E. Smith, Democrat, $2,077.15.

Clarence F. Buck of Illinois provided the Lowden figures. He is manager of the former Illinois Governor's campaign organization.

Buck, the last witness of the day, elaborated on Lowden's own testimony previously given the committee, declaring he had received $65,950 to date in contributions. Lowden himself donated $12,500.

Other Contributors
Omer M. Custer, Galesburg, Illinois, banker, and Robert D. Clarke, a retired Peoria and Los Angeles capitalist, furnished the bulk of the remainder.

Buck said, Custer giving $20,000 and Clarke $17,500. There were 21 other contributors, including A. S. Peabody, J. E. Otis and F. W. Robinson, all of Chicago, $2,000 each; Warren Wright, Chicago, $1,500 and Brodie Davis, Chicago, former law partner of Lowden, $1,000.

Buck said approximately $22,000 of the receipts was sent to Lowden organizations in three states and expended in two others with a view to feeling out delegate support for Lowden. Ten thousand dollars, he said, was sent to Minnesota to meet unexpected opposition from the Hoover camp.

For organization work in Iowa, $1,900 was spent; $2,000 sent into Washington state. In addition, Buck said he used $7,493 to pay the expenses of two Lowden workers sent into Oklahoma and had given $500 to two Maryland supporters of the Illinois candidate to survey the situation in that state.

Against Big Fund
He explained that while Lowden had yielded to widespread requests that he become a candidate for the presidency, the former Governor had issued stern orders against the expenditure of big sums for his cause. He also had warned, Buck said, that under no circumstances would he enter any state primary delegate fights where there were favorite son candidates.

No money had been spent or workers sent into the south in the interest of Lowden's candidacy, he added. He was "praying" for delegate support in those states, however, he said.

Because it was felt the pre-convention campaign was about over, Buck said no drive was now being conducted to win any delegates over to the Lowden banner.

First to Conduct Annual Poppy Sale

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. America's only organization of ex-service open to all veterans who have followed the flag to foreign shores or hostile waters in war-time, was the first to stage the sale of poppies on a nation-wide scale.

The seventh annual distribution of V. F. W. Buddy Poppies will be held during the week of Memorial Day in May, as in the past. Succeeding years have seen the wearing of the Buddy Poppy more widely entrenched as a fixed custom, the nation's gesture of remembrance and gratitude for those who sleep beneath the poppies in France.

"Honor the dead by helping the living" was the motive back of the plan introduced some years ago to have the V. F. W. Buddy Poppies made by disabled veterans in government hospitals. As a result, the convalescent wards, for several months out of the year, present a scene of activity and endeavor, with patients busily putting together the flowers that are later offered to the public. Veteran Bureau officials have endorsed this method of procedure as a distinct benefit to the patients, stimulating their mental activities and diverting their thoughts from personal ills or worries. The veterans are paid accordingly, and the extra money provides little necessities and luxuries they would otherwise be unable to enjoy.

General Frank T. Hines, director of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, has recognized this work as a valuable adjunct to the treatment of mental and nervous disabilities. The Buddy Poppy, its purpose and the work accomplished by the proceeds of its sale, has been approved universally, by the highest government officials, civic and patriotic authorities.

MONKEY BUSINESS
Los Angeles—Monkey business turned a fire into a farce here recently. The blaze was in a pet shop. Firemen released a cage full of monkeys and the fun was on. The animals climbed on the stock shelves and started throwing packages of bird seed, dog biscuits and what not at the firemen. When the blaze had been extinguished it was found that monkey business had started it. They had chewed the insulation from exposed electric wires and shorted the line.

Judge It by Results!

Thousands of people have written letters to this Company about a motor oil—Iso-Vis—just because they appreciate it and want to write about it!

Ever since Iso-Vis was put on the market, unsolicited letters have come pouring in by the hundreds, praising this remarkable oil, telling of results obtained. These letters are the best advertisements that could be written about any product. They state facts. Here are a few examples:

I have one customer, driving a Dodge, who has driven over 3000 miles without changing oil. Another driving a Buick, who has driven 3500 miles without changing. They simply add a quart when needed, and you couldn't sell them anything but Iso-Vis any more. I want to congratulate the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for putting such a superior product as Iso-Vis on the market.
—Isaac Anderson, Madison, Minn.

I find the new oil, Iso-Vis, reduces carbon, retains its proper body under varying temperatures of the motor, and does not thin out, at the same time giving greater lubricating mileage.
—E. G. Austin, Battle Creek, Mich.

It may interest you to know what success I have had with Iso-Vis in my Studebaker Special automobile. I find that I get about 300 miles more, on one crankcase filling, than I did on ordinary oil. When I drain the old oil and let it settle, I can use it over again. It seems just as good as new after the dirt has settled out. Another good feature of Iso-Vis is that it does not thin down but always keeps up the body no matter how long it is used. It gives better lubrication and is certainly more economical than ordinary oil, even if the cost is slightly higher. I am more satisfied with it than any oil that I have ever used.
—W. K. Porter, Burlington, Wis.

You cannot judge a motor oil by its "looks"! What kind of performance does it give? That's the test of a motor oil.

Iso-Vis lubricates a car correctly at all times—from start to finish. It ends dilution troubles. It gives satisfactory lubrication—smooth motoring—because it maintains a practically constant viscosity. Try it yourself and judge by results!

FIELD OF CRACK
SPRINTERS WILL BE IN NW. RELAY

Big Ten Champions in Track Events Will Soon be Known

Chicago, May 23.—(AP)—A crack field of sprinters will answer the call for the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes at Northwestern University Friday and Saturday when 300 track and field stars meet to decide the Western Conference 1928 outdoor championship. Trial heats in all events except the distance runs are to be held Friday with finals Saturday.

The century will bring together seven sprinters who have done better than 10 seconds and who are candidates for the Olympic team.

Winners of first and second place qualify for the Olympic finals at Harvard. Topping the group is George Simpson of Ohio State. He won the event at the Penn Relays in less than 10 flat and stepped the distance at the Ohio Relays in .09 3-5. Hester of Michigan, winner of the Big Ten hundred last year, was clocked at .09 8-10 in a dual meet with Illinois.

Elis of Ohio State, Smith of Wisconsin, Cubel of Iowa, Abramson of Chicago, Hermansen of Northwestern and Gleason and Root of Chicago, are the others.

Again in the 220 Simpson stands out, having footed the distance in a quadrangular meet at Madison in .31 5-10. Crowsky of Michigan did 21 6-10 against Illinois, beating Hester by inches, while Stevenson of Iowa has been caught in the same time.

The quarter-mile is another feature event, with Rut Walter, Northwestern Sophomore, as the favorite.

Competing in the event will be Gist of Chicago, Cubel of Iowa, Abramson and Stephenson of Indiana and Stowe and Ramay of Wisconsin. The race is expected to be run in .48 flat or even better.

Watching the Big Scoreboard

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)
The reaction that almost inevitably follows extending winning streaks has struck the Chicago Cubs and forced them from the pace-setting position in the National League's wild pennant scramble.

After establishing a season's record for winning streaks when they ran up a strong of thirteen straight, the Cubs lost their third game in a row yesterday, St. Louis taking a 3 to 2 decision at the Mount City.

This defeat for the Cubs, coupled with Cincinnati's 5 to 4 victory over Pittsburgh put the Reds back into first place.

complete the New York Giants moved into third place while the Cardinals dropped back to fourth, the intricacies of the per centage system accomplishing this despite the fact that both clubs turned in victories.

Roettger's single in the eighth inning gave the Cardinals the run that spelled defeat for the Cubs.

Hack Wilson hit his third home run in two days and his ninth of the season.

Doubles by Allen and Plinich in the eighth provided the one run the Reds needed to beat the Corsairs at Cincinnati. Lloyd Waner hit a homer with Smith on base in the fourth.

The Giants took advantage of their opponent's five errors to beat the Brooklyn Robins, 9 to 5. Vance weakened in the sixth and his support collapsed at the same time, McGraw's men scoring five runs.

Brandt gave up but three hits as the Boston Braves repulsed the invading Phillies, 3 to 1. Brandt allowed but one hit until the ninth when Southern hit a home run and Sand singled.

In the American League, the New York Yankees went on a batting spree reminiscent of their palmiest days of last year. The champions pounded out 22 hits in scoring a 14 to 4 victory over the Boston Red Sox. In the Yanks' hit collection were Ruth's thirteenth homer of the season, Gehrig's seventh and Muesel's fourth.

Jack Ogden was wild and the Detroit Tigers beat the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 3. Ogden forced in two of the four runs the Tigers scored in the first inning.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)
New York, May 23.—(AP)—It may not be of startling concern to the average motorist whether or not he has a front or rear wheel drive but this mechanical issue happens to be vital just now to a dozen or two speed kings who will match their dare-deviltry and speed in the 500-mile International Sweepstakes at Indianapolis on Memorial Day. The argument between the rival camps is so hot that it likely will result in a record-breaking race for Germany bobs up to give the Yankee confidence a jolt.

A season or two ago Ted Meredith's famous world's record for the half-mile was considered impregnable but along came lanky Dr. Otto Felizer to knock it out of the books.

Now it is the discus record. America has had to share some of the honors in plate-tossing to the Finns in years past but Hoffmeister of Hanover has outdone anything in the record achievements of the two American aces, Houser and Hartman, with a toss of 159 feet, 4 inches.

Tex is Surprised: He Made Some Money

New York May 23.—(AP)—Instead of a deficit Tex Rickard has been agreeably surprised to find out that he realized a profit of about $20,000 on the much postponed bout that saw Sammy Mandell ward off Jimmy McLarnin's bid for the "Rockford Slick's" lightweight title.

Revised figures, said Rickard, show that 20,410 fans paid to see the bout for gross receipts of $152,564, far short of the $250,000 the promoter expected to pour into the treasury. After deducting federal and state taxes the receipts amounted to $130,564. Mandell received $49,111 or 37½ per cent, and McLarnin $16,370, or 12½ per cent. Other expenses left $20,000 as clear profit, the promoter said.

Ruth Eight Games Ahead of Last Year

New York, May 23.—(AP)—Babe Ruth, the Sultan of Swat, is coasting along eight games ahead of the pace he set last year to establish a new home run record of 60 for a season. The Bambino blasted his thirteenth homer of the current campaign yesterday as the Yankees crushed the Red Sox under a 14-4 score. Ruth's smash traveled into the left field grandstands, a spot usually safe from the Babe's prodigious drives. Homer No. 13 came in Ruth's 31st game. Last year he hit his 13th in his 39th game on May 29.

For Marbles Title

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Illinois is to select its marble champion on Saturday, May 26.

On that day, the playground commission of the city of Springfield, cooperating with The Springfield State Journal will play host to city "mib" champions from all parts of the state. Entries are expected from Chicago, North Chicago, Rockford, Joliet, Evanston, Waukegan, Centralia, Aurora, Alton and Champaign.

Local tournaments have been held throughout the state and many sectional contests also have been staged. One of these, in Springfield April 28, was won by Milford Foulkes of Decatur with Walter Dietz of Champaign second. Witt, Alton and Springfield also were represented.

John E. MacWherter, superintendent of the playground commission of Springfield, is in charge of the tournament.

House Passed Postal Bill Over Pres. Veto

Washington, May 22.—(AP)—The House in rapid order today twice overrode vetoes of President Coolidge.

Despite the President's expressed disapproval a bill to provide increased pay for postal employees assigned to night work was approved by a vote of 319 to 42. Then, just as quickly as the roll could be called, the House voted 319 to 45 to pass the bill to grant allowances to fourth class postmasters for rent, light and fuel.

The Senate still must act on both measures. On the first show down many of the Republican stalwarts in the House turned against the President who was supported by a bare handful of members—administration Republicans and three Democrats, Crisp of Georgia, Woodrum of Virginia and Douglas of Arizona. The vote this time was 78 more than the two thirds necessary to override the President.

On the second bill the same number of members—319—lined up in opposition to Mr. Coolidge, while only 45 rallied to his support.

The lineup on the second vote was practically the same as on the first.

Mystery Beating of Two Men at Modesto

Modesto, Ill., May 22.—(AP)—Police here today were faced with the task of solving a "mystery beating," in which two men were seriously injured after they had been twice attacked by a dozen men in six automobiles last Sunday night as they were escorting two girls from here to Waverly, a nearby town.

Unconscious and suffering intense pain, the men, Merle Campbell, 30, and Edgar Stewart, 25, both of Modesto, were unable to aid officers in their search for the attackers. The two girls accompanying the injured men, Miss Helen Crum and Miss May Seymour, both of Franklin, were not harmed in the attack.

The gang, whom police believe were from Auburn, Ill., first waylaid the two couples shortly after they left here, the girls said. After they had dragged their escorts from the car and flayed them, the beaten men crawled back to their machine and continued their journey to Waverly. In a short distance, they found the road blocked by six automobiles, and as they attempted to force their way through, the gang again assailed the two men and beat them severely, the girls said.

This SYMBOL NEVER MEANT MORE

In body design as in mechanical excellence, the new Oldsmobile represents a brilliant interpretation of the fine-car ideal—for Oldsmobile's new bodies are Fisher bodies . . . and never in history has the Fisher symbol carried greater significance.

In their bold, refreshing grace is expressed the whole new spirit of our times. In their artfully executed refinements, their rich appointments and their exquisite finish, is revealed the artist's appreciation of luxurious detail. Yet for all their beauty and fineness, Oldsmobile bodies by Fisher have the inherent soundness which always appeals to those motorists who demand enduring worth.

Body frames are built of selected hardwood—carefully mortised, glued, screwed and bolted. Over this are applied panels of steel—a resilient combination assuring maximum strength and freedom from drumming.

In itself, this achievement in fine body building is worthy of widespread approval. But combined as it is with new performance abilities, new steadiness and new stamina—it stamps the new Oldsmobile overwhelmingly the fine car of low price—the choice of thousands of buyers.
